MARKETING

Marketing is the most important factor in the growth and life of a coin.

Having a marketing tax is the difference between a short and long-term project.

Running out of marketing funds is synonymous with the end of a coin, and having only a ( marketing wallet ) is inefficient, in the sense that it requires the developer to do a ( one-time ) sell and affect the price chart of the token.

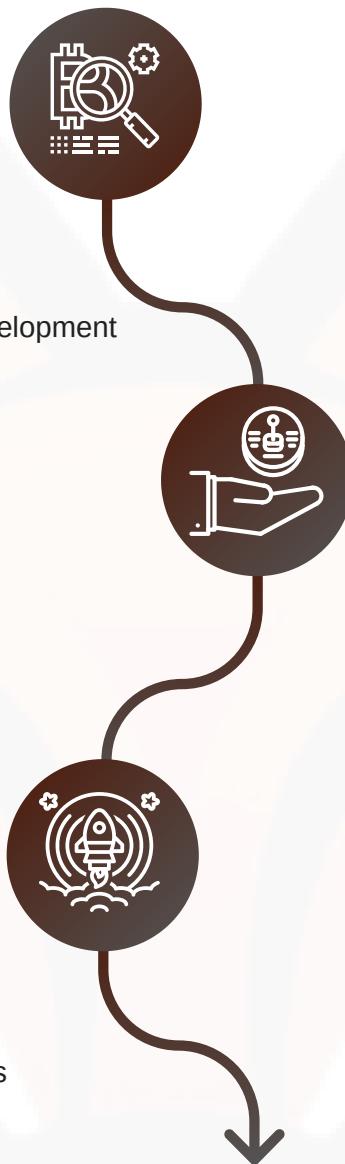

Having a marketing fee, however, guarantees that as long trading volume is reasonably high, funds are being put at the service of marketing and growth of the project.
